On Winning the competition:

It was a proud & holistic moment for us as we brought back Rs. 25000/- as award & an opportunity to internship at Surana and Surana International Attorneys India.

About the competition:

The proposition comprising four issues revolved around the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code, 2016 with issues delving into the conflict of laws related to ineligibility imposed in the proposal of a resolution plan and scheme of compromise and arrangement. The issues also revolved around the validity of the security interest if the loan is given to a third party. Further, it dealt with the revival of the company petition without a revival clause in the consent terms during the withdrawal of the CIRP application.

The journey through this moot court competition has been an incredible learning experience. Competing against 37 teams from top law schools across the country, we were tested at every step of the way. From the rigorous preliminary rounds to the challenging octafinals, quarterfinals semifinals, and nerve-wracking finals, each round pushed us to hone our legal research, advocacy, and presentation skills.

They thanked their mentors & friends who guided them through their journey and steered them through the complexities of Insolvency law.
