

Centre for Policies, Laws, and Agenda
NUSRL, Ranchi
presents

1st National Blog Writing COMPETITION

on the theme

“Feasibility of One Nation, One Election”

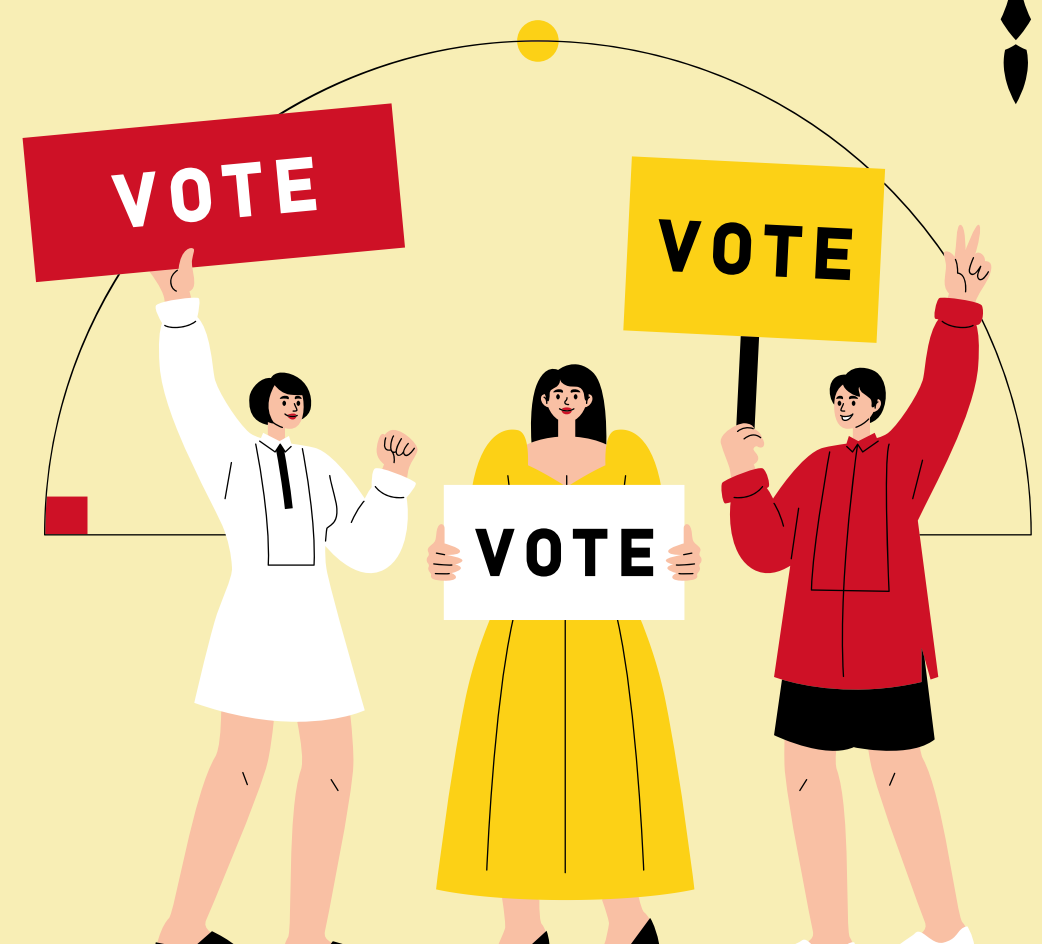

The competition invites participants to explore and analyse the practicality, challenges, and implications of implementing simultaneous elections across India, considering constitutional, logistical, and democratic aspects.

About the Organizers

The Centre of Policy Law and Agenda (CPLAN) at NUSRL Ranchi, established in 2023, is dedicated to fostering academic discourse and research in policy-making and legal reforms, serving as a bridge between theoretical knowledge and practical implementation.

National University of Study and Research in Law (NUSRL), Ranchi, established by an Act of the State Legislature, embodies the vision of our constitutional forefathers who recognized law's crucial role in human, social, political, and economic development. As a premier legal institution, NUSRL acknowledges law as a vital social process that strengthens democracy and constitutional rule of law. In the 21st century, India's rich legal heritage guides the institution in catalyzing constitutional goals and establishing India's position among developed nations.
